THE CONSOLIDATION QUESTION.

Recent discussion by essayists and the press upon the effects, necessities and benefits of the consolidation of railway lines which form links in chains of routes traversing several States and Territories between ocean termini, again bring the subject forward to public consideration in a purely economical phase. It is now free from the entanglements, partisanship and local political complications embarrassing and enveloping it during the session of the late Legislature in this State. Then dispassionate consideration of the matter was not permitted. It is now accepted generally by political economists that such consolidations are not only not antagonistic to public interests, but on the contrary are promotive of them, in that they make certain the more economical administration of the transportation business, and because the benefits resulting are mutual between the public and the carriers. It needs no elaborate argument to make clear that a single corporate administration, a single outfit of company officials, etc., enable operations to be conducted at least cost and with the lowest amount of friction, as compared to several distinct organizations with all their several retinues and varied and distinct equipments.

It will be remembered that the chief and only object worthy of note raised by the legislative resolutions of protest against consolidation of companies on the Southern Pacific route between San Francisco and New Orleans, was based upon the expressed fear that such union under a permissive act of Congress would deprive this State of the right of control and regulation which it has asserted over roads held to be subject to her jurisdiction. That these fears were not well founded, was proven by the readiness with which the "bill to authorize the Southern Pacific Railroad Company and other roads to unite and consolidate so as to form a continuous line of railroad between the tidal waters of the Atlantic and Pacific oceans," was amended in Congress so as to completely overcome all objection taken by the alarmists, and to eliminate by express provision all doubts upon that subject. It is therefore not to be taken for granted that such consolidation under this modification will not hereafter be resisted, even by those who opposed it so recently.

The advantages of such union will accrue to California in a greater degree than to the companies interested. "The history of railroad development in this and other countries," said the Congressional committee to which the subject was referred, "reveals the fact that the union of smaller lines into great lines of railroad has been found necessary for their efficient operation, and that such consolidation has resulted in cheapening and improving the carriage of persons and property, and manifold benefits to the patrons of the roads." That conclusion is invincible, dispassionate examination will conclusively show. The Pacific coast has the deepest interest in the greatest possible success of the roads to bring its products closer to the world's great markets at the minimum of cost.

The desired union under one control is not in the line of a new and unified policy. Whatever will increase the efficiency of transcontinental lines and the economy of their conduct, must be reflected in material benefits to all the sections traversed, in facilitating the rapid and economic transportation of freight and passengers and in inviting to the permanent settlement and cultivation of the country. As the production of the coast enlarges, the desirability of having every economic measure applied to secure the best market affording the largest returns is increased. The tide of immigration is now setting westward with renewed force and augmented volume, and this, with the other considerations noted, fosters the belief that if future efforts are made to secure the union of the roads they will not meet with similar opposition to that manifested the past winter, and which was the result of much of misapprehension of the factors involved as of unreasoning party heat and demagogic and the spirit that panders to a depraved prejudice supposed to be popular, but which in fact has no substantial existence among producers and in commercial circles.

FALSIFICATION AND ADULTERATION.

The report of an American Consul in France, charging upon exporters very much of falsification of French wines for shipment, appears to have created great excitement in that country. It has brought out the truth, and that is bad enough, for debate, inquiry and confession reveal the fact that all the Consul said was within the limits of truth. The falsifications have been of the grossest character, and the impositions of the exporters have amounted to robbery. The Bordeaux exporters affected great surprise at the revelations, and exerted themselves to give the lie to the reports, but their assumed indignation resulted in still further exposure, and all that has been officially charged regarding falsification and adulteration of wines has been established by careful analysis. The effect was more far-reaching, however, for now it appears that the home consumers of French wines have inquired concerning their beverages, and have discovered that deleterious substances are put into their wines to doctor them up to the required standard. One correspondent goes so far as to say that since the pest of the phylloxera became so general the adulteration of wines has been open and undisguised as to be thought a matter of course by commercial people. The Government some time ago established at the Prefecture of Police in Paris a laboratory for examination of wines, and the results have been published weekly, showing that about one-half the wine Paris consumes is falsified, and one-third so villainously doctored as to be exceedingly detrimental to the health of the people. Chemical agencies are employed and liquids produced and sold for wines that do not contain a particle of the juice of the grape. In the Department of the Seine there are 15,000 wine merchants. These held a mass meeting about a fortnight ago, and reproached the authorities for the exposed frauds, claiming that the laboratory should be placed in charge of the Prefecture of the Seine, when, of course, the revelations would be of a different character. The meeting went so far, having heard of American political methods, as to warn the Chamber of Deputies that the members "own their political positions to universal suffrage," which is, of course, a broad hint to repeat the law requiring analyses of wines sold, or suffer political decapitation. The meeting did prove, however, that some of the analyses have been erroneous, and that there is some pure wine consumed in Paris, but it could find no answer to the testimony of Auriol Scholl, the critic, who, according to a French correspondent of the New York Post, one day sent his cook to buy a bottle of Chablis Superior. What was his astonishment on examining the wine under suspicion aroused, to find the chief ingredients to be sulphuric acid and water. If in France adulteration has gone so far, what may we not believe with regard to French wines in more enterprising and not more scrupulous America?

PAINTFUL SILENCE.

The San Francisco Examiner commented the Republican President for appointing Dorman E. Eaton to the Civil Service Commission, when it was laboring under the unpardonable mistake that Mr. Eaton is a Democrat. It spoke with amazement of this recognition of ability and fitness for the place, regardless of party affiliation. The Record-Union permitted its contemporary to continue in error in order to commit it fully to the proposition that fitness and ability should outweigh partisan considerations in appointments to civil service. When this was accomplished, the Examiner's blunder was pointed out. We demonstrated that it had repudiated a charter principle of its party, "to the victors belong the spoils," and called upon it, in the enthusiasm of its conversion to reason, to express itself upon the case of the Democratic incompetent, Boggs, and the unconscious methods employed to cover that party's tracks at the expense of the public and the carriers. It needs no elaboration of argument to make clear that a single corporate administration, a single outfit of company officials, etc., enable operations to be conducted at least cost and with the lowest amount of friction, as compared to several distinct organizations with all their several retinues and varied and distinct equipments.

It will be remembered that the chief and only object worthy of note raised by the legislative resolutions of protest against consolidation of companies on the Southern Pacific route between San Francisco and New Orleans, was based upon the expressed fear that such union under a permissive act of Congress would deprive this State of the right of control and regulation which it has asserted over roads held to be subject to her jurisdiction. The Star Route Trial.

WASHINGTON, April 12th.—The star route trial, which was called, it is said, to testify as to what was alleged Moore to have done, was concluded to-night, and the photographs recognized by Carr as "No. 1" were those of Tynan.

The trial of the Colorado Cannibal.

DENVER, April 12th.—The trial of Alfred G. Packer, the San Juan ghoul, charged with murdering his five companions in Colorado in 1874, was concluded to-night, and the case given to the jury. The evidence shows that a party of six was organized in Utah in 1872 to prospect the site of Lake City, blinding storms coming on, they lost their way. Their food gave out, and for days together they lived on roots. They were then compelled to eat raw meat, and the party deliberately fell upon and butchered the whole party, and for several weeks lived on the flesh from their victims. In the fall of 1874, in the mountains of Colorado, Packer and his party were captured by Indians, and he escaped, having been maimed and calumniated by his captors. He related the experiences of the party from their cutting out of Utah, closing with the most sickening details of the number and severity of the tortures inflicted upon him by the Indians.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

THE LATE CAPTAIN TOWLE.

The death of James Towle, Captain of the Guard at the Folsom State Prison, was announced in the RECORD-UNION yesterday, also that his remains had been taken to San Francisco for interment. At a meeting of the officers and guards of the prison, at which Warden McComb was Chairman and J. M. Miner Secretary, a preamble and resolutions were adopted.

The deceased, the hand of death has suddenly affected us by removing from our midst our dear Captain, James Towle, whose purity of life and integrity of purpose have commanded our deepest respect.

Resigned. That we offer tribute to his memory as a testimonial of our sincere appreciation of his services to the public, as well as a police officer, and in all the other duties of his active and energetic life. And we recognize in the history of the State the record of his services rendered upon our respect and affection in consideration of his invaluable faithfulness to duty, love of justice and a personal calamity to each one of us, and as creating a void which cannot be filled.

Relatives and our most earnest heartfelt condolence, and that the bereaved be directed to forward the remains to San Francisco and participate in the obsequies.

A MYSTERIOUS SUICIDE.—Last evening few minutes before 5 o'clock, a stranger came to the Police Station and said that a man was lying out near the north levee, between Ninth and Tenth streets, who was in a fit of狂暴. Without stopping to ask any questions, officer Coffey started with the man. Arriving at the place designated, a man was found as described. He was lying with one foot in the water, and on the top of the levee, keeping at a good distance from the river, and was unconscious. The officer obtained some assistance and carried the man to the top of the levee. A boy was sent to the Railroad Hospital for assistance, and the officer started in search of a doctor. This did not find him, and he was brought to the Police Station and two physicians summoned. Nothing could save him however, and it was evident that 9 o'clock he died. His body was taken after the coroner's inquest, and buried in the cemetery.

METROPOLITAN THEATER.—Wednesday a man named Burrell Harris came down from Wheatland with his family, consisting of three daughters and a son. The whole family were apparently somewhat deranged, and the two oldest girls were viciously insane. They came from Missouri less than a year ago, and it was the intention to return to that State. The father bought five first-class tickets to the Golden Eagle Hotel, Miss Harrison, Miss Louise Harrison, Miss Minnie Thompson, Louis Harrison, Sam Harrison, John Gourley, Chas. Goodwin, Chas. Overton, Frank Willard, the Harry C. Conner, Mrs. Conner, Mrs. V. V. Clown, St. Louis; L. A. Kelly and wife, Oakland; Hugh Hiddle, Chicago; J. S. Wheeler, New York; James L. Clark, Sacramento, H. W. THEATRE.—An upright man, a good fellow, a devoted officer. As a tribune of respect to the memory of the deceased, labor will be suspended for the day, the flag will be displayed at half-mast, and the names of the deceased will be draped in mourning until the body has been laid at rest, and the officers and guards will wear wreaths on the left arm for forty days. James Curtis, John Moran and Thomas C. Hartman, members of the Board of Directors, will be present at the funeral, and to San Francisco and participate in the obsequies.

WARDEN MC COMB. issued the following circular to the officers and guards, dated at the State Prison April 11th:

"It is with profound sorrow that the Warden and Captains of the Guard, Captain Towle, an upright man, a good fellow, a devoted officer. As a tribune of respect to the memory of the deceased, labor will be suspended for the day, the flag will be displayed at half-mast, and the names of the deceased will be draped in mourning until the body has been laid at rest, and the officers and guards will wear wreaths on the left arm for forty days. James Curtis, John Moran and Thomas C. Hartman, members of the Board of Directors, will be present at the funeral, and to San Francisco and participate in the obsequies."

A MYSTERIOUS SUICIDE.—Last evening few minutes before 5 o'clock, a stranger came to the Police Station and said that a man was lying out near the north levee, between Ninth and Tenth streets, who was in a fit of狂暴. Without stopping to ask any questions, officer Coffey started with the man. Arriving at the place designated, a man was found as described. He was lying with one foot in the water, and on the top of the levee, keeping at a good distance from the river, and was unconscious. The officer obtained some assistance and carried the man to the top of the levee. A boy was sent to the Railroad Hospital for assistance, and the officer started in search of a doctor. This did not find him, and he was brought to the Police Station and two physicians summoned. Nothing could save him however, and it was evident that 9 o'clock he died. His body was taken after the coroner's inquest, and buried in the cemetery.

METROPOLITAN THEATER.—Wednesday a man named Burrell Harris came down from Wheatland with his family, consisting of three daughters and a son. The whole family were apparently somewhat deranged, and the two oldest girls were viciously insane. They came from Missouri less than a year ago, and it was the intention to return to that State. The father bought five first-class tickets to the Golden Eagle Hotel, Miss Harrison, Miss Louise Harrison, Miss Minnie Thompson, Louis Harrison, Sam Harrison, John Gourley, Chas. Goodwin, Chas. Overton, Frank Willard, the Harry C. Conner, Mrs. Conner, Mrs. V. V. Clown, St. Louis; L. A. Kelly and wife, Oakland; Hugh Hiddle, Chicago; J. S. Wheeler, New York; James L. Clark, Sacramento, H. W. Marston, H. W. Livermore, H. W. Marston, San Francisco.

COMMERCIAL.

San Francisco Produce Market.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 13th—1 P.M.

FLOUR.—Prices are quite easy. Yester'day's export by the China steamer averaged 10,000 bushels, less $7.50 per bushel.

WHEAT.—The market seems to have been at a standstill. There was no trade, and buyers were a little more liberal in their offers. Holders show fair disposition to make the sale of their wheat, but are not anxious to do so in order to unite the buying and selling interests. Good shipping is quoted at a range of $1.75 to $1.77, while fair shipping is quoted at $1.75. Buyers are not willing to pay a fancy lot price as high as $1.80, though a fair lot would bring $1.75. On the whole, there is a general feeling that a speculative feeling, with rates of 100 tons No. 1 White, buyer's cost—$1.79; 200 tons $1.79; 500 tons $1.79.

At the Grain Exchange, this afternoon, the sales included 100 tons No. 1 White, buyer's cost $1.79; 200 tons No. 2 White, April 18th, $1.79; 500 tons No. 2, grades Wheat at leading centers to day are telegraphed as follows:

SACRAMENTO, St. Louis, New York.

Spot, Compt., $1.73; 100 lbs., $1.75; 1000 lbs.,

April, 1.62; 1000 lbs., 1.78; 1.94.

May, 1.70; 1000 lbs., 1.96.

June, 1.63; 1000 lbs., 1.81.

July, 1.67; 1.78; 1.97.

The Chicago quotations represent Spring, while the St. Louis and New York figures are for Red Winter grain.

BANANAS.—There is very little life to the market, and it looks as if it would continue that way, taking into account the present situation. Oil can trading is limited to very few operations, while outside business is quite slow. Street sales of 2000 boxes per day are about all that can be done outside figure, and the market for this description can fairly quiet down to $1.20. Brewing of 2000 boxes per day is still in progress without finding ready sale. Public transactions to day aggregate 3,000 tons. No. 1 Public, as follows:

Spot, $1.73; 100 lbs., $1.75; 1000 lbs.,

July, 1.62; 1000 lbs., $1.78; 1.94.

Buyer May—200 tons, $1.75; 1.94.

August—100 tons, $1.72; 1.91; 114.

September—400 tons, $1.70; 200, $1.80; 100, $1.91.

Seller's season—100 tons, $1.71; 300, $1.75;

Summer 1883—100 tons, $1.61; 100, $1.68; 400,

$1.68; 200, $1.68; 1000 tons, $1.70.

Buyer, buyer's cost, $1.69; 1.70.

OATS.—Trade fairly active. Fair Feed, $1.75/20; good, $1.80; 1000 lbs., $1.78; 1.90.

COFFEE.—The only kind offering at the moment. Quotable at $1.45 per lb. in lots to suit.

RICE.—In any great request. Quotable at $1.20 per lb.

BUTTERWHEAT.—Recent transfers have been made at $1.60 per lb.

HAY.—Horses quiet at unusual figures. Alfalfa, $1.65/25; Wheat, $1.70/25; Wild, $1.70/25.

HAY.—The asking price is $1.70 lb., and it is doubtful if concessions can be obtained.

SUGAR.—Market stable supplied, though values are very irregular owing to the difference in the quality of the various brands. Good, $1.75; 100 lbs., $1.75; Mushrooms, 50¢/lb. in box; Asparagus, 50¢/lb. in box; Sprouts, 35¢/lb.; Artichokes, 10¢/lb.; Turnips, 10¢/lb.; Turnip Greens, 10¢/lb.; Carrots, 10¢/lb.; Tomatoes, 10¢/lb.; Cauliflower, 75¢/lb.; Potatoes, 10¢/lb.; Turnip Greens, 10¢/lb.; Lettuce, 10¢/lb.; Cabbage, 10¢/lb.; Turnip, 10¢/lb.; Turnip Greens, 10¢/lb.; Green Peas, 40¢/lb. for common and 65¢/lb. for sweet; Tomatoes, 10¢/lb.; Cucumbers, 10¢/lb.; Peaches, 35¢/dozen; String Beans, 25¢/lb.
